Re: ClerkNet 2.1 offers new enhancements after Wednesday, February 10, 2010

ClerkNet 2.1, which allows the Clerk of the Court to provide users with a secure, searchable court document database via the Internet, will unveil a new look and new enhancements on Wednesday, February 10, 2010.

ClerkNet 2.1 is loaded with a new series of features and functions, which benefit both attorney-users and the Clerk's office. Some of the features of the upgrade are:

- New security rules, allowing attorneys of record access to images that are confidential to others;
- New message and communications features on the user log in screen;
- Newly-enhanced password security, complex issues tracking, and more.

We welcome you to discover the new ClerkNet 2.1 for yourself. Log in at www.SarasotaClerk.com to find out more about this e-product provided to our partners in the legal community .

Already a ClerkNet user? Suggestions, comments, kudos or concerns about the enhancements to the application? Please let us know— your feedback is so important to us. Email ClerkNet@scgov.net.

Please note: Due to systems and security upgrades, some users may receive new, auto-generated passwords; upon receipt, log into the ClerkNet system and change your password immediately. If you have forgotten or are having trouble with your password, please contact a member of the ClerkNet Assistance team at ClerkNet@scgov.net.
